Dedication

Dr. John W. Bachman

"The crowd"—a nebulous, ever-changing mass pulsating, at times forward, at times back, yet always alive and straining toward goals often vague and ill-defined. From the midst emerges the figure symbolizing the entire academic community. It is with pride that we dedicate this year's Fortress to Dr. John W. Bachman, president of Wartburg College, and leader of "the crowd." These past months have been filled with acquaintances begun tentatively yet buttressed with a strength afforded by mutual commitment to common goals. The image of Wartburg College presented to those outside its immediate boundaries is the responsibility of all students, faculty members, administrators and staff personnel; yet it is especially so of the college president. He is ultimately held accountable for adherence to high standards in all phases of college activities. Wartburg is privileged to have leadership of such caliber in its academic, spiritual and human struggles.

The pursuit of truth never has been or shall be an easy one; but "In and beyond thought and imagination, education at Wartburg College should liberate men and extend our vision because we believe that at the center of the universe is a living commitment to truth and justice."—From the Inaugural Address.

Foreword

1964-1965—a school year that was. Stop and think about the motley group of activities that made that year.

An enthusiastic freshman class, the largest in Wartburg history; a successful Homecoming, bringing back hundreds of alumni, a committee dreaming up innovations and a successful banquet in the new Student Union, which was also dedicated that weekend; then the inauguration, the first one in nineteen years, bringing to Wartburg dignitaries from all over the nation; the dances in the Union with live bands; a football game that brought the crowd mobbing onto the field to see a victorious team carry off a joyful coach; and on goes the list.

But the most important thing in making a successful year is the crowd, composed of everyone who claims connection to Wartburg's academic conquests. And it is you, the crowd, that have given the theme to this yearbook.

For the theme is you, the crowd, and it is to this crowd's leader that the book is dedicated.

We, the staff of the 1965 Fortress, now invite you, the crowd, to view your activities—the activities of a successful and already past 1964-1965 Wartburg school year.

CAMPUS LIFE

WITH ESCORT John Thalacker at her side and Marv Ackerman, Fortress editor, with the microphone, Mary Ann expresses her thanks to the staff.

MISS MARY ANN HERDER . . . is 1965 Fortress Queen

IT'S ALL smiles for date John Thalacker when Mary Ann is named queen. Her first reaction is, "Did I hear that right?"

Basketball games are great. Especially when you know you're going out afterwards to celebrate a friend's birthday. This is all Mary Ann Herder knew when she, her date and two friends went to the Central game December 5. Little did she know that at the halftime of the game she would be crowned as the 1965 Fortress Queen.

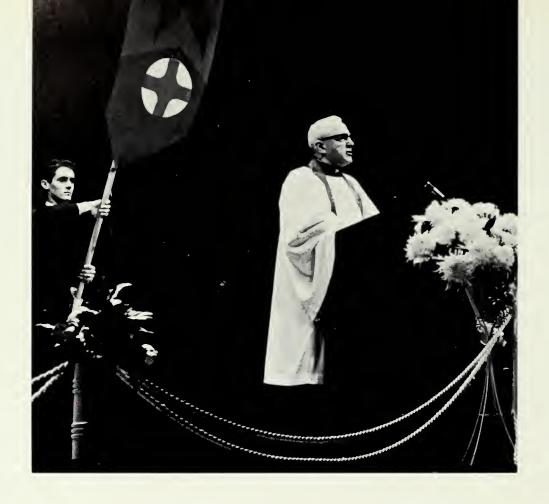

At halftime Marvin Ackerman, Fortress editor, and Linda Morse, associate editor, walked to the microphone. Mary Ann recognized their presence merely by popping another bite of popcorn into her mouth.

The usual introductions were given, and Mary Ann still continued to eat her popcorn. She was unconcerned. Then the announcement came: "The 1965 Fortress Queen is Miss Mary Ann Herder." Mary Ann nudged her date, John Thalacker, and asked him if she had heard right. Now the secret was out. Now she knew why she had to get dressed up so they could celebrate after the game.

As a result of her being elected Fortress Queen a photo essay of Mary Ann was sent to the officials of the Drake Relays, held each spring in Des Moines. Candidates from various colleges and universities throughout the United States are selected to be present at the Relays and to vie for the crown.

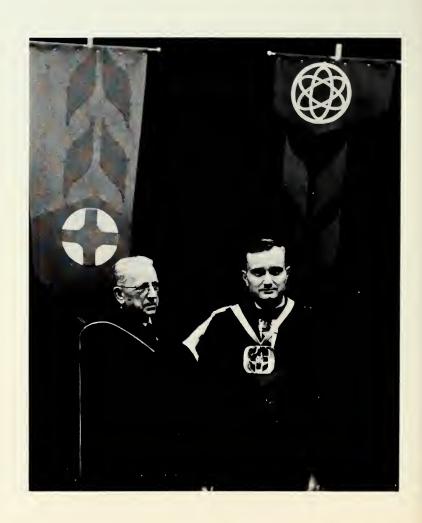

Halftime was over. This time Mary Ann was too excited to worry about her popcorn. All she could do was sit and try to watch the rest of the game.

DELIVERING THE opening sentences at the Inauguration Ceremony is Dr. Hermann Siefkes, president of the Iowa District, American Lutheran Church.

MISS MARCIA RENCH . . . is crowned 1964 Homecoming Queen

Screaming pep rallies, knights in armor, greased poles, exotic banquets, gloomy death marches, flaming bonfires, flowers, ribbons, food, skits and football games will let no one say they caught Wartburg napping on this Homecoming weekend. There was far too much excitement for that. Even the visitors were caught up in the festivities as canstacking, "Yell like hell" contests and social hours added even more flavor to this year's festivities. The sports theme was "Level Luther's 'Leven."

The general theme of the weekend, however, was "Unity Amid Diversity."

With a definite South Sea Island tempo, Kastle Kapers swung out with music and rhythm under the "Midnight Sun," presenting Queen Marcia Rench and her court, chosen by the student body to reign over the weekend. The crisp air did little to cool spirits as enthusiastic cheerleaders brought excitement to a peak during bonfire ceremonies. A "Kahiki" social hour and banquet entertained students and alumni. "Come With Me to the Sea" set the mood for the Homecoming dance, adding a glamorous touch and climaxing Saturday's events.

Centering around a duel with Luther on the football field, the annual weekend proved both enjoyable and rewarding from the anticipation of Mystery Convo to the thrilling resonance of the Warsaw Philharmonic Orchestra. Who says you have to win the battle to win the war?

SMILING RADIANTLY, Marcia is crowned by Jayne Christensen McElfresh, 1963 queen, as Dave Hutson and Roger Sherman assist.

PERFUME SNIFFING is not exactly Dale Fridley's line, but with the help of Diane Zimmerman he tries his hand at the fragrant 4-R's booth.

ARTIST SERIES . . .

The Warsaw Philharmonic—October 25

Appearing on October 25, the Warsaw Philharmonic opened Wartburg's 1964-'65 Artist Series. Making its second tour of North America, the Philharmonic has gained world fame for its musical excellence.

High lights of the concert included Berlioz's "Roman Carnival Overture" and Beethoven's "Third Symphony." Violin soloist Wanda Wilkomirska displayed unusual skill and brought out the emotional intensity of the "Violin Concerto, Opus 8" by Karlowitz.

The Artist Series season was brought to a fitting close with the performance of Richard Dyer-Bennet, the twentieth century troubadour. Dyer-Bennet presented a truly interesting show, demonstrating the many sides of his talents. In addition to being an accomplished singer, he is an excellent guitarist. Besides being an entertainer, he also proves his ability as a composer and musicologist. His wide repertoire ranged from traditional songs of love to biting satire in the guise of ballads centered on events of the past.

FORMERLY OF the Netherlands, Mrs. W. F. van Slingerlandt and daughter Elizabeth greet the conductor of the Chamber Choir.

Second semester quickly got under way, and with it came the distinguished performance of the Netherlands Chamber Choir under the direction of Felix de Nobel. This eighteen-member group brought to Wartburg College an evening rich in the traditions of Europe, particularly that of the low countries. Founded in 1937, the choir has come to claim world-wide recognition and includes some of Holland's most distinguished singers, all of whom appear regularly in concerts of their own.

To add variety to the concert, the group, which usually sings a cappella, was masterfully accompanied by de Nobel, an accomplished pianist in his own right. Displaying an abundant talent, the group sang in several languages, including English. Its repertoire included hymns, love songs, rollicking folk dances and a novelty written especially for the choir.

Holland is justly proud of its "cultural ambassadors," and apparently the Wartburg audience felt the claim justified because the group was called back for five encores.

ALAN BERGMAN IN "LUTHER" — January 10

RALPH VOTAPEK—November 15

January brought to the Wartburg stage probably the most outstanding of any one of the 1964-'65 series presentations. As the audience thrilled to the exhilarating strains of "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," the awardwinning play depicting the life of the hymn's author unfolded before them. "Luther," winner of the New York Critics Circle Award for the best play of the 1963-'64 season, was indeed an outstanding piece of theatre.

Actor Alan Bergman gave a brilliant performance as Martin Luther, monk turned heretic, whose demands for reforms in the church brought excommunications from the Pope.

Ralph Votapek, a twenty-three-year-old from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, won the first prize in the 1962 Van Cliburn International Piano Competition. A Wartburg audience listened with delight and respect to the intense and mature concert given by this young man.

Old masters such as Mozart, Brahms and Debussy were presented along with modern composers such as Hindesmith. Wartburg showed its appreciation of Votapek's performance by calling him back for three encores.

Sounds of big band jazz and the harmony of a trio singing folk songs supplemented by chatter kept the campus entertained through its Pops Concerts. Under the chairmanship of Roger Prehn and John Hanssen, concerts were presented by Count Basie and his orchestra and the Kingston Trio.

The fifteen-piece orchestra directed by Count Basie presented a jazz concert November 19. The band displayed excellent musicianship in its unique and flexible style. Featured soloists were trumpeter Sam Noto; Sal Nistoci, tenor saxophonist; and drummer Sonny Payne, who turned out to be the show-stealer with his flying drumsticks. Comedian Rusty Ryan also presented a monologue of hilarious jokes.

Selected to perform for the Spring Pops Concert on May 2 was the Kingston Trio. John Stewart, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane presented several folk songs in a style involving vocal and instrumental blends with featured solo parts. The Kingston Trio has increased its popularity by hit records, albums and personal appearances after its first big hit, "Tom Dooley." The trio supplemented songs with "patter-chatter," which kept the audience in laughter and high spirits throughout the concert.

HONORS PROGRAM . . . offers challenge to superior students

GATHERED FOR one of the bi-monthly colloquia, freshman honor students discuss history with Mr. Matthias and Dr. Ottersberg.

A challenge to superior students was initiated in the form of an honors program this year. The program was also seen as a means to attract others to the Wartburg campus and to add materially to the improvement of the academic atmosphere.

The twenty-eight students participating in the honors program expressed themselves as enthusiastic about the project and showed evidence of eagerness in their approach to the program.

Two colloquia were held each month, with subjects such as literature, religion, science, mathematics and psychology. Materials discussed were from selected books. Co-ordinator for the series was Dr. P. A. Kildahl, English Department, with various faculty members from different departments participating in each colloquium.

Beginning the honors program was a banquet in October. A dinner in the spring at which students gave evaluations of their experiences in the program ended the year.

Expanding each year, the honors program will eventually include all four classes.

CAMPUS LIFE . . . shows new aspect of familiar sights

ADMINISTRATION

PRESIDENT BACHMAN . . . sees dimensions as key to growth

PRESIDENTIAL CALL is read by Dr. Fredrik Schiotz, president of The ALC, as a serene and dignified Dr. Bachman listens.

November II, 1964—that day a symbol was passed to Dr. John W. Bachman, the new president of Wartburg College. A symbol of the presidential office into which Dr. Bachman was installed, it represents the dual objective of Wartburg College and its president—Christian commitment and academic integrity.

Dr. Bachman came to Wartburg from New York, where he was professor of practical theology and director of the center for communication and the arts at Union Theological Seminary.

As an educator he began his academic career at Capital University as head of Speech, Drama and Broadcasting. He went from there to Baylor University and to the University of London.

Religious commitment for him began as a parish minister in Ohio and continued with his position at Union Seminary.

A prolific writer and lecturer, the new president continues to contribute regularly to professional magazines and journals and has published several books.

"Beyond dimensions, we are concerned with the character, the quality, the form of the educational process. At Wartburg this form embraces the total educational experience and embodies the conviction that at the center of life is a loving commitment to truth and justice."—From the Inaugural Address.

Assistant Walter Fredrick

Assistant Merritt Bomhoff

Discussing a student's financial problems and checking on the work in the cafeteria are only two duties carried on by Mr. Walter Fredrick. Assistant to the president in the area of business affairs, he is responsible for a variety of campus concerns.

Development is the responsibility of the Rev. Merritt Bomhoff. As assistant to the president in the area of public relations, he assures the college that it has sufficient income to meet its capital needs.

The Board of Regents concerns itself with important administrative acts. Members are Dr. Walter Voecks, Waverly, Iowa; Dr. Fred Lentz, Beatrice, Nebraska; Mr. Fred Miller, Fontanelle, Iowa; Mrs. Henry Graven, Greene, Iowa; the Rev. H. C. Schiffler, Coatsburg, Illinois; the Rev. Dean Kilgust, Green Bay, Wisconsin; the Rev. W. C. Langholz, Rantoul, Illinois; Mr. H. J. Schwerin, Flanagan, Illinois; the Rev. Luther Sherer, Bridgeport, Michigan; Miss Hildegard Moehl, Chicago, Illinois; Mrs. M. G. Christensen, Cedar Falls, Iowa; Mr. Dean Winkjer, Williston, North Dakota; the Rev. Donald Loots, Mason City, Iowa; the Rev. R. G. Borgwardt, Madison, Wisconsin; Mr. Louis Schneider, Chicago, Illinois.

ADMINISTRATORS . . . prove indispensable to student welfare

Deans Earnest F. Oppermann, Florence Hertlein and Assistant Barbara Belk.

College administrators are as indispensable as the student himself. Before the student's college career ever begins, he will probably meet Admissions Director Victor Pinke.

One of his first stops will be at the office of Miss Eldora Flugga, treasurer. He will undoubtedly spend much time waiting in the Dean of Students office. Seldom will he find Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann; Mrs. Florence Hertlein, dean of women; and her assistant, Miss Barbara Belk, without visitors.

The office of Miss Mattie Harms, registrar, will be visited every semester in connection with registration. As chaplain of the college, the Rev. Herman Diers opens his office for counseling services.

Though the entering student may not meet them, Duane Schroeder, director of the news bureau, and the Rev. Harold Becker, director of church relations, perform necessary services.

After graduation the student will not lose contact with Wartburg because of the work of Alumni Director Robert Gremmels.

FACULTY . . . renders excellent educational services

One of the finer assets of Wartburg College is an excellent faculty. Large credit for this may be given to the dean of the faculty, Dr. John O. Chellevold.

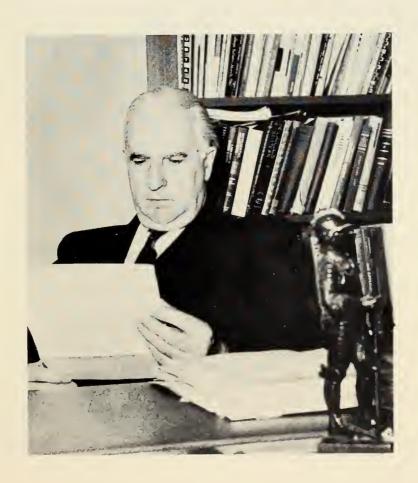

Many of the faculty members are in demand as speakers at meetings and conferences, and several have written books, both fiction and textbooks.

Dean Chellevold encourages faculty members to continue their education and develop special interests, making the faculty member more valuable to the college and community.

Besides heading the faculty, Dr. Chellevold also instructs mathematics courses and attends and speaks at several meetings and conferences during the year. His name and biography appear in the 1964 edition of "Who's Who in America."

Two promotions were given to faculty members this year as recommended by Dr. Chellevold: Dr. Phillip Kildahl was promoted to full professor, and Miss Nancy Mista to assistant professor.

ACCEPTING HIS position with dedication appears to be an easy thing as Dr. Chellevold answers one of his many phone calls.

MANY PAPERS, a small black knight, hundreds of books and a busy man—this is the office of Dr. Chellevold, Wartburg's dean of faculty.

To appreciate and to experiment in creative activity these are the goals of the Art and Music Departments whose homes are the Fine Arts Center.

Courses offered by the Art Department are planned to satisfy the individual's need for creative activity and to develop his capacities and critical judgement. The department is, however, also concerned with the cultural needs of the entire student body. In an effort to develop student awareness in the art forms, an exhibit is presented monthly emphasizing different areas of art.

The Music Department provides students with the opportunity to take part in areas of musical interest. All students have the chance to enrich their cultural backgrounds and develop musical skills through participation in campus musical organizations or through private instruction. To students with music as their major interest, the department provides specialized training for music teachers in public schools, as private teachers or in undergraduate work for advanced study. It also trains students to be leaders in the church by serving as organists, choir directors and singers.

Wartburg College is one of the few liberal arts colleges in the Midwest to be accredited as an outstanding school of music. This year the department added to its staff Mr. Arthur L. Madsen, who teaches piano.

EDUCATION-PSYCHOLOGY . . . provides professional preparation

CHECKING BOOK lists to order new books for the library are Mrs. Margery Gregory and Miss Perna Lohn, librarians.

Three goals have been set by the Education Department—to contribute to the students' general education, to give background for graduate study and to provide professional preparation for prospective teachers through student teaching. Twelve school systems participate in the student teaching program.

The curriculum for Christian Day School teachers has been expanded by working more closely with St. Paul's Christian Day School in Waverly and by introducing new courses

Kappa lota Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary society in education, was introduced at Wartburg in February.

Some new and interesting programs have been introduced in the study of psychology.

In the field of experimental psychology both human and animal subjects are being studied. Learning experiments are being conducted with the aid of new equipment.

An independent study course has been added to the psychology curriculum. It covers such areas as the history and systems of psychology, application of learning theory and motivation.

The department has been doing research in the areas of student characteristics and campus climate. It also conducts various testing programs and provides testing services for the counseling program on the campus.

Wartburg College has a strong set of goals for the Religion-Philosophy Department. Introducing the student to fundamental philosophical problems by exposure to viewpoints of experienced teachers in the area of philosophy and to a better understanding of the basics of the Christian religion presents a challenge to the department.

Instructors in the Religion Department experience a privilege and a responsibility in training the student in the Christian faith. An effort is made first to increase the student's knowledge of the Bible and its message; secondly, he is made aware of the value of critical study, thus increasing his personal and social responsibility. He is instructed so that he, as a mature Christian, can responsibly contribute to our world.

It is hoped that through a study of philosophy, the student will gain insight into the history of ideas and will increase his own capacity for critical thinking, thus contributing to his whole education. A further asset is the formation and analysis of the student's own ideas in relation to God, morality and life in general, so that his life will take on more meaning in a complex world.

Additions to the Religion Department include Frederick O. Kile and Robert Kriesel, part-time.

At the beginning of this school year, Dr. P. A. Kildahl became chairman of the English-Speech-Journalism Department.

Both Drs. Edilberto and Edith Tiempo, visiting professors in this department, had books published this year. Dr. Edilberto K. Tiempo's book, "More Than Conquerors," is the story of Philippine resistance during World War II. Dr. Edith Tiempo's book is a collection of short stories entitled "Abide Joshua and Other Stories."

The department was also honored by the inclusion of Mrs. Margaret Garland in "Who's Who in the Midwest."

Mrs. Margaret Hemingway and Mrs. Eleanor Wheaton were added to the English staff, which continued in its aims to train students in clear, correct expression and in the appreciation of literature.

Under the direction of this department are the college publications, "The Fortress," "The Trumpet," "The Castle," and the radio station KWAR-FM.

This year Wartburg College was awarded membership in Pi Kappa Delta, a national forensics chapter. This is the first time an lowa college has been awarded membership since 1936.

The Department of Ancient Languages, Greek and Latin, seeks to carry on the "classical tradition" of Western culture.

The chief objectives of the Modern Languages Department are to acquire a working knowledge of the written and spoken languages and to bring about an appreciation of the literature of other countries.

SOCIAL SCIENCES . . . equip students for contemporary life

Contemporary society is made up of complex patterns. Young people must learn to live within existing patterns and form unique, individual designs, based on the old. The social sciences, in particular, accept the task of preparing students to recognize the changing shapes and subtle tones of contemporary life.

Courses in the Business Administration and Economics Department equip students for business careers, train secondary business teachers and provide cultural training in this area.

What political, economic, social, moral and intellectual forces shaped Western Civilization? The courses of the History and Political Science Department help the student answer this question while he fulfills credit requirements.

What is social disorganization? What is the structure and function of society? The Sociology Department attempts to answer questions concerning this area.

Human betterment and human need are perennial questions. The Social Work Department, accredited by the Social Work Association, develops students who attempt to answer these questions for others.

Embarking on a new project, the Physics Department, with a seven-thousand-dollar grant from the Atomic Energy Commission, is developing a nuclear program. This is a further continuation of the department's seeking to satisfy requirements for pre-professional courses or graduate study and to contribute to a liberal education through the study of the physical laws in relation to our world.

The Chemistry Department satisfies the interests of three classes of people—those taking chemistry as an elective, those taking it as an allied subject and those whose professional interests require a knowledge of chemistry. Several chemistry majors are testing their knowledge through long-time experiments now being carried on.

Aims of the Mathematics Department are to prepare students to teach, to furnish students with a practical tool for everyday life and to prepare them for graduate study in this field.

Returned to the department this year with a new degree is Dr. William Waltmann, teaching in the field of mathematics. Absent this year was Mr. John Meyer, on leave of absence to work toward his doctorate, also in the mathematics field.

WITH ALL apparatus in order, Dr. Swensen, Chemistry Department, instructs junior Emile Zola in distilling compounds.

Sports

Wartburg's football Knights managed a 2-6-1 record in Coach Norm Johansen's last year as head football coach. The Knights got off to a slow start, losing their first four games of the season before breaking into the winning column with a 14-12 victory over hapless William Penn. The Knights placed eighth in the conference, just ahead of winless William Penn.

The only other victory that the Knights had might be considered the high light of the season. Central came into Schield Stadium with impressive credentials. In sole possession of first place in the conference, Central had beaten lowa Wesleyan, who beat Wartburg by 60 points, and was ranked 10th in the nation in small college polls. The fans expected the roof to fall in early, but Wartburg scored in the first half on an end sweep by Bobby Nielsen. Nielsen failed to make the extra point, but the 6-0 bulge proved enough, as Central dominated the rest of the game but could not penetrate the stout goal-line defenses thrown at it by the Knights. Following this big upset, the Knights managed a 14-14 tie with Buena Vista.

Another high light was the long-standing record tied by Bob Nielsen. Nielsen ('61-'64) tied Wendell Liemohn's record of most passes received in his career ('53-'55) when he finished this season with a career total of sixty-five pass receptions.

Ron Mennen and Paul Zietlow were the only All-Conference team members from a season that saw Wartburg outscored 69-196 and outrushed 917-2067. The Knights completed more passes than their opponents, 80-61, but lost out in the passing yardage department, 852-949.

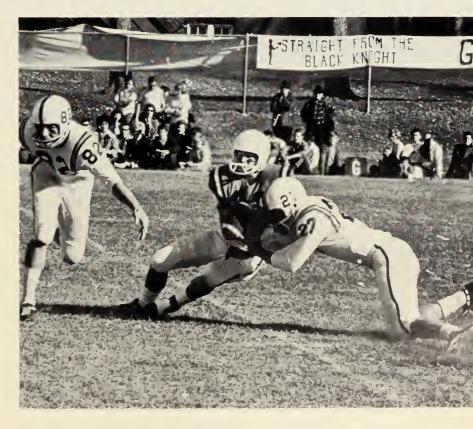

Lee Bondhus, former professional footballer with the Green Bay Packers, was appointed line coach for the '64 season.

Four records set by fast finishing Knights

Wartburg's strong finishing team proved to be a bit better than most would have supposed after the varsity basketballers had squeaked out a two-point win over the frosh in the annual season opener. An unimpressive loss to Gustavus Adolphus also seemed to spell a poor year for the Knights. Against Central, however, Wartburg athletes gave an indication of what to expect in future games.

After Christmas the Knights caught fire and at one time had a six-game winning streak going in the conference before bowing to champs UIU in the season finale.

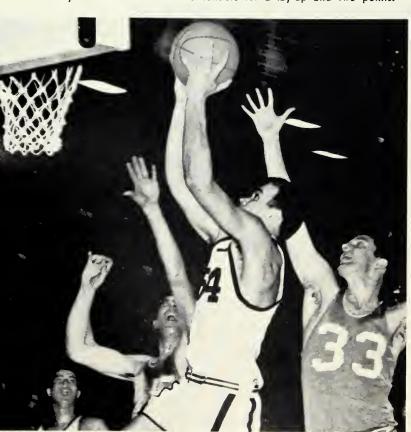

Wartburg broke the century mark three times—the last one being a new school scoring record of 114 against Luther. The Knights also tied the conference record of most points scored by two teams—215 against Luther.

Wartburg also scored on the average higher this year than ever before, shooting 81.9 points a game. The fourth record chalked up for the Knights was most team field goals of 39.6.

Cliff Cameron, leading scorer and rebounder for Wartburg, was named to the first all-lowa Conference team. The Knights finally ended up tied for third in conference play.

Before ineligibilities and injuries cut into the squad, the Squires showed the fans some fine basketball. The frosh almost duplicated the varsity record by breaking the century mark twice.

Wartburg golfers, coached by Norm Johansen, almost duplicated last season's output of 4-4-1 when they managed a 4-5 season. With the loss of their top man, Milt Marschall, the Knights still fared well in producing a near .500 season. Freshman Les Holland proved to be the mainstay of the squad as he led the Knight duffers in most of their meets.

For the fifth straight year Wartburg finished second in lowa Conference wrestling. This was the year to unseat Luther. However, the Knights could not turn the trick and ended up playing second fiddle again this year.

Improving their record over last year, Wartburg wound up right over the .500 mark with a 5-5 record. Although the Knights managed two shutouts over lowa Wesleyan and Carleton, they did receive stiff competition from Augustana (Illinois) and Winona State, which was ranked eighth in the nation among NAIA schools.

While getting consistent performances out of veterans Dale Wehling, Bob Bye, Mike Tower and Larry Snitker, the wrestlers received some assistance from three new freshmen and a transfer student. Jim Ayres, Jim Brandau and Al Anderson, all freshmen, stepped into varsity competition and gave the squad depth. Junior transfer Dave Long nailed down the 157-pound class all season and then dropped down to the 137-pound for the conference meet.

Wartburg grapplers again fared well in the conference meet. Although Mike Tower, defending conference champ, did not repeat at 147 pounds, the Knights still managed to have two conference champs. Dave Long won the 137pound weight class while frosh Jim Brandau captured the 157-pound division. Bob Bye and Larry Snitker nailed down second-place honors. Dale Wehling, Mike Tower and Terry Tellefson all captured thirds.

Knight grapplers also improved their showing in the All-Lutheran tourney at Decorah, placing fifth as compared to last year.

Coach Norm Johansen can expect great things to come, as none of the varsity wrestlers were seniors and all plan to return to Wartburg.

CONFERENCE CHAMP at 137 pounds, wrestler Dave Long picks up his Luther opponent before pinning him and taking the crown.

With the loss of ace cross-country runner Lothar Columbus, Wartburg could not quite turn the trick in defending last year's conference championship. Although several promising frosh augmented John Kurtt's long-distance runners, the perennial conference leaders at Luther proved too tough and too deep for the Knights.

A 3-3 dual meet record was all the Knights could muster. However, a strong showing in a conference triangular with Central and Simpson, and an equally impressive effort in a quadrangular meet with Winona, Central and William Penn proved what the Knights were to be faced with at conference time.

All losses except the loss to Luther were non-conference and were against very strong teams. At the conference meet held on the Knights' own course, Wartburg came in second to the strong Norsemen from the north. Gaylen

Fick, the standout all year, finished second in that meet. In the NCAA College Division meet held at Wheaton, Illinois, Wartburg placed sixteenth.

Poor weather along with rough competition gave the 1964 tennis team another bad year on the hard courts. With virtually the same team that posted a 2-8 season the year before, the Knights managed to end the year with a 3-4 mark. Bettering their performance of the two previous years, the racketmen climbed to third place in the conference.

Wartburg's trackmen showed improvement again this year as they placed second in the conference meet. Never before have the thindlads finished so high. In the last four years the Knights have increased their conference standing until now the only goal left is first place.

It appears that this was the season for records, since Wartburg's running Knights ended the season with six new ones in the books. Lothar Columbus had his best year on the cinders as he accounted for three of the new records. Lothar set a new school record of 4:27.2 in the mile; 9:38.0 in the two-mile; and 14:52 in the three-mile. Junior Joel Niemann tied the outdoor high-jump mark at a height of 6° 2° /₂.

Harold Shudlick, outstanding all-round athlete, set a new time in the I20 hurdles with :I4.6. The mile-relay team, consisting of Shudlick, Roger Haynes, Jerry Zehr and Jerry Meister, broke the record that had just been set in 1963 when this team ran the mile in 3:24.7.

NAIA World Series and two pro contracts highlight season

SLUGGING OUTFIELDER John Mantey of the Knights slides safely into home base for an important run of the postseason NAIA Tournament held here.

An extended period marked the 1964 baseball season for the Knights. After most collegiate teams had hung up their spikes, Wartburg Oppiemen were getting down to serious work preparing for the Area Four NAIA Tournament in Waverly and then on to St. Joseph, Missouri, and the NAIA World Series.

Even though Wartburg failed to capture its fifth consecutive conference championship, the Knights experienced a good campaign. In regular season play Wartburg had to split with the Luther Norsemen to gain a tie for the championship, but rain forced a postponement, and the Knights' title hopes went down the drain.

Wartburg was, however, the lowa representative to the Regional NAIA playoff and went on to capture this tournament and the right to compete in the NAIA World Series in Missouri. The high light of the tournament for Wartburg was defeating the future champs of West Liberty State of West Virginia 2-I in sixteen innings. As a result of the tournament play Dave Langrock and Ray Bye signed professional contracts with the Chicago Cubs.

The Knights' overall record was 18-6. The 1964 season saw four hitters over the .300 mark with Garry Medlang high with .471 as compared to last year's meager output in the hitting department.

Four Knights also made the loop all-conference team. These were outfielder Ray Bye, catcher Al Exner and pitchers Dave Langrock and Leon Carley.

Finishing as one of the top small college teams in the nation climaxed Coach Earnie Oppermann's sixteenth year as head baseball coach.

GRADUATION DOES not mean the end of collegiate baseball for Dave Langrock as he prepares to head for the NAIA World Series.

IN POST-SEASON action with River Falls, Wis., during NAIA play, Ray Bye, speedy centerfielder, slides safely into third base.

puts on the brakes but cannot get started again before hustling Dieterichs catches up with him and tags him out.

Organizations

Student Education Association opens the door to opportunities for professional growth to those students preparing to teach. When a student joins the local chapter, he also becomes a member of the Student ISEA and the Student National Education Association. Qualifications for membership are enrollment in education and payment of a yearly membership fee.

Student members of the SEA receive professional publications, become familiar with the policies of the local, state and national education associations and acquire an appreciation of the high standards of the teaching profession.

Students grow professionally through activities in the group. Some of the programs this year have included such interesting presentations as "What an administrator expects of a beginning teacher" and "Job placement." The year ended with a spring banquet.

Local members Gerene Meyer and Ann Sepp are presently serving as president and vice-president, respectively, of the Northeast Region of the ISEA. Wartburg had the largest representation of any attending institution at the fall regional meeting at Luther.

STUDENT TEACHERS practice what professional standards preach. Marcia Rench reads to a group of Waverly children.

APO . . . honors promising actors

Honoring those students who have done outstanding work in the theatre, Lambda Mu cast of Alpha Psi Omega began the year with initiation ceremonies for those members who had earned enough point's to meet the requirements.

Each member has an opportunity to acquire membership by participating in acting and technical aspects of the theatre, such as make-up and scenery.

The Lavonne Kimpling Drama Award is contributed to by Alpha Psi Omega members and is given each year to an outstanding sophomore or junior in theatre.

Assisting in preparations for the annual dramatics awards banquet in the spring, APO takes part by presenting awards for best actor and actress, best supporting actor and actress and best technical worker.

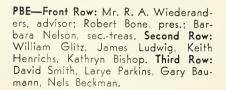

PBE . . . recognizes ability in radio

Pi Beta Epsilon is an honorary fine arts fraternity recognizing outstanding students in the mass media division of radio. These students have contributed to the campus community in various ways, including the fields of drama, literature, music or journalism.

Initiation ceremonies are held each semester for those who meet the rigid requirements. After a period of being a 'neophyte,' pledges become active members.

High lights of this year included a Christmas party for all members of KWAR-FM and a formal banquet in the fall of the year. A bowling party was held in January.

PBE performed a practical service for KWAR-FM by making a survey of the Waverly area to determine the station's listening power. The organization also sponsored a radio field trip to Cedar Rapids.

WARTBURG PLAYERS . . . offers creative, dramatic outlet

Smell of grease paint, the anxious "break a leg," the rustle of the curtain, and every actor and actress knows the show has begun.

Wartburg Players, composed of performers and stage technicians, has produced a fine series of drama this year. "The Crucible," a drama by Arthur Miller, was presented in November. The second play, the comedy "Lo and Behold" by John Patrick, featured the sponsor of Wartburg Players and also the play's director, Mr. John Gill.

In conjunction with Spiritual Emphasis Week, three avant-garde plays were presented. These one-act plays were "The Zoo Story" by Edward Albee; "The Lesson" by Ionesco; and "Something Unspoken" by Tennessee Williams. The season closed with "Oklahoma" presented in conjunction with Castle Singers.

Plays were exchanged with Augsburg College, Minneapolis, and the Wartburg Seminary in Dubuque.

Since no acting group would be complete without costumes, an annual costume drive was held in Waverly. Technical and dramatic awards were given at a spring dinner.

WITH PAINSTAKING effort, junior Norma Gray applies finishing touches to Vicky Van Slyke before "The Crucible."

WRA . . . sponsors group recreation for Wartburg women

PRACTICING FOR that all-important tournament game, Phyllis Smith, a Centennial III team member, has sights on victory.

Providing recreation for all Wartburg women including faculty women and wives of faculty members is the function of the Wartburg Women's Recreation Association.

Volleybail, basketball, softball, shuffleboard, ping-pong, golf and tennis tournaments were sponsored during the year. Planned recreational games, such as badminton, aerial darts and trampolining, offered individual activity.

WRA competed against Sumner High School Grinnell College and Waldorf Junior College in field hockey and volleyball. Association members also attended sports days at State College of Iowa and Upper Iowa University.

Campus activities included stadium decorations for Homecoming, a skit for the Homecoming pep rally and a campus dance.

Women's Recreation Association met every Wednesday evening for a business meeting, a round in tournaments or a recreational hour. Fall and spring picnics were also held.

"W" CLUB . . . has athletic prowess

Athletic prowess plus "knightly valor" equals a member of the "W" Club. Members work hard, on and off the field, to promote interest in sports and to boost school spirit.

The club has a wide range of activities. Lettermen sponsor concessions at football and basketball games and provide escorts for many of the campus queen nominations.

Sports queens are elected in fall, winter and spring to reign over the season's events. Each month a Knight is given special recognition for his athletic achievements by being chosen "Athlete of the Month." Fathers of athletes are recognized at the annual Dad's Day program held each fall. The spring sports banquet marks the end of the year's activities. Throughout the year the "W" Club supports all campus sports and activities with zest and spirit.

Two-time letter winners receive black and orange letter jackets, the outward sign of a hard-working, conscientious athlete.

Physical Education Club is open to those who have majors or minors in physical education. Its purpose is the establishment and execution of the purposes, goals and ideals of physical education, health, education and recreation. The club is a professional group and is affiliated with the state and national organizations.

For the fourth consecutive year the club's major project was the publishing of "Wartburg College Introduces Its Physical Education Majors and Minors," a brochure listing those who graduated with physical education degrees.

Monthly programs were instituted to fulfill the club's purposes and ideals. They include related films, featured dinner speakers, skating and swimming parties and the annual end-of-the year picnic.

MENC . . . helps prepare teachers

Performance by freshman music scholarship winners was the high light of the Music Educators National Conference meetings. Other programs and activities included a presentation on the subject of "Pianos" by Miss Jean Abramson, "The Use of Instruments in Teaching" by the MENC advisor from SCI, a program on the music camp at Interlocken, Michigan, and Christmas caroling for Waverly shut-ins.

Formed to help prepare future music teachers, the organization presented as examples of the teaching process some of the latest teaching techniques and programs from surrounding schools.

MENC members are music majors or others interested in music. Affiliated with the National Education Association, all receive "The Music Educators Journal," a monthly magazine which presents the latest teaching methods.

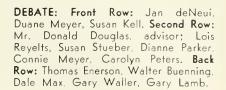

DEBATE . . . argues national issues

Forensic activities have grown in popularity on the Wartburg campus. Here students join together to discuss and debate controversial resolutions which have national or international importance.

The national debate question for 1964-'65 was "Resolved, That the Federal Government Establish a National Program of Public Works for the Unemployed."

In recent years Wartburg students have earned a commendable record. Last year's record was two sweepstakes awards and twenty-two individual awards.

As a result of their performance in the 1964 University of Chicago Tournament, Wartburg was rated among the top 25 of the nation's college debate teams. Wartburg also was honored with an invitation to the 1964-'65 National Debate Tournament at Tacoma, Washington. The invitation is a historical "first" for Wartburg debaters.

ALPHA CHI . . . promotes and recognizes student scholarship

BOOK STACKS are a friend to all good scholars. Putting them to best advantage is Alpha Chi member Diane Peich.

Scholarship is a combination of character and ability, which is partially reflected in one's grade point. Alpha Chi, a national honor scholarship society, seeks to promote and recognize scholarship among undergraduate students. Students of the member colleges who are in the upper tenth of their junior and senior classes are eligible to membership in one of its fifty-seven chapters.

The Iowa Alpha Chapter of Alpha Chi has been on the Wartburg campus since 1960. It annually sponsors academic programs and projects. Again this year it provided a cultural calendar in the library and listed in the "Trumpet" programs of cultural interest.

Other 1964-1965 activities included a program on graduate study and the service of members as judges for campus debates.

Through its study of the academic situation on campus and also meetings of a social nature, Alpha Chi attempts to enrich academic life and social contacts.

Meeting the public can be fun, as the members of Ushers Club well know. At many college functions — plays, pop concerts and especially the Artist Series — the tuxedoed ushers direct the guests to the proper aisles. The guests are then seated and given programs by courteous usherettes. Ushers Club believes that a pleasant and efficient atmosphere before the performance can increase audience enjoyment of the whole evening.

At the end of the Artist Series season, the Artist Series Committee, in appreciation for the services of the Ushers Club, gives a banquet for those members who have actively participated all year. At this banquet the president and vice-president for the coming year are elected.

Ushers Club is open to all students, and many who have joined have found it to be both an interesting and enjoyable experience.

SMILING HAPPILY, Cheryl Gunderson is shown to her Artist Series seat by John Hougard as Lorna Tank waits her turn.

PHOEBES . . . prepare through doing

What is a parish worker? What is her task? Members of Phoebes answer these questions in their individual and group work.

Religious education, youth work, music, administrative tasks—all fall within the scope of the term "parish worker," and all are important topics for members of Phoebes to consider.

Through the aid of Dr. and Mrs. Karl T. Schmidt, who have frequently opened their home for meetings, the group presented special events and programs.

For some, the ideas gleaned will be put to practical use in a few short months. For others, fields of interest and ability may be expanded more fully in the time remaining before graduation and full-time church work.

GAMMA DELTA . . . stresses worship

Fun, fellowship and worship are the characteristics of the newly established chapter of Gamma Delta at Wartburg College. Sponsored by the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, the organization offers an opportunity for students to become acquainted with the work of the church and problems facing the college student.

Meeting twice monthly, Gamma Delta offers a diversified program, recreation being provided as part of each meeting. Programs this year featured guest speakers, Bible Study, Christmas caroling, a picnic and a discussion on Christian witness. Contact with student groups from other colleges was provided by a Gamma Delta workshop in March at State College of Iowa and a retreat.

Gamma Delta stresses worship by emphasizing two basic points—college students should know Christ and they should serve him.

SCIENCE CLUB . . . appeals to any interest in science

Antarctica, the real nature of physics, the International Math Congress, organic reaction mechanism—these are some of the subjects discussed at the meetings of the Science Club.

Each of the departments concerned with Science Club—biology, physics, chemistry and mathematics—takes charge of the presentation at one of the monthly meetings. Many of the meetings feature lectures and demonstrations by professors of Wartburg College, other colleges and persons occupied in professions affiliated with science.

One of the more interesting programs of the year was the address by Dr. H. C. Jensen, head of the Physics Department of Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Illinois. He presented a talk with demonstrations on the "real nature of physics." Guests from surrounding high schools and colleges were present at this meeting.

Each year is highlighted by a banquet and field trip in the spring of the year.

BETA BETA BETA . . . promotes biological science

Biological science—its promotion and investigation—is the major concern of the Wartburg Chapter of Beta Beta. The local chapter, Gamma Lambda, is part of the national biological fraternity.

To be eligible for this organization a student must be majoring in biology and have an above-average scholastic record, as well as credits in at least three semesters of biological science.

Speakers at the monthly meetings presented a variety of topics. Subjects ranging from taxonomy to Antarctic lichens were discussed by speakers, including guests, Wartburg faculty and students.

The year was completed with a spring banquet at which new members were accepted.

ACS . . . offers opportunity to develop scientific interests

Offering an opportunity to develop a deeper interest in the wide field of chemistry to any student majoring in chemistry or otherwise associated with this science, is the goal of the Wartburg College chapter of the American Chemical Society.

Many distinguished scientists spoke to the group, helping it to realize this goal. Members also made several visits to laboratories not otherwise open to the public.

Development of leadership, the creation of a professional attitude among members and the acquisition of training and service in the chemical professions are objectives set for ACS.

High light of the year was a meeting at which Dr. J. K. Thomas of the Argonne National Laboratories spoke on "Rates of Reactions of H plus ions, OH minus radicals and Hydrated Electrons in Aqueous Systems."

CONDUCTING EXPERIMENTS in chemistry lab helps members James Rasmuson and Ken Schrankel gain valuable experience.

WAF . . . questions and comments

As the name implies, World Affairs Forum is a sounding board for questions, observations and comments about political, social and economic developments.

Highlighting the year's activities was a trip the group took to Ames, Iowa, to attend a mock United Nations convention.

"The British Labor Party and its Effect on the English People" was the topic under consideration when Mr. Thomas Klaasen, Business Department, was in charge of the program. Dr. Robert Dell, Religion Department, enlightened the members on the subject of "The Influence of Religion on World Affairs."

KAPPA DELTA Pl... organizes

Kappa Delta Pi, national honor fraternity in education, was formed on campus by the Education Department this year. The purpose of the chapter, which is open for membership to qualified juniors, seniors, graduate students and faculty members, is to encourage high professional, intellectual and personal standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education.

Pledging ceremonies were held in February with a banquet in the Castle Room, where students in the upper one-fifth of their respective classes, along with two selected faculty members, were initiated into the society.

Many months of work go into the preparation of the Fortress, the small but enthusiastic staff has found out. Every afternoon the Fortress office in the Publications House was a scene of activity as editors, copywriters, photographers and the advisor cooperated to put together this year's book.

Despite problems with pictures, late copy and unmet deadlines, the staff met its last deadline. Members concentrated on writing better copy, drawing better layouts and taking more creative pictures.

Innovations for this year's Fortress include black end and division sheets and a more striking cover designed from the Wartburg presidential emblem.

Plans for this year's Fortress were begun immediately after the new editor was selected by the Publications Committee in February. During summer vacation the editor sought new ideas to make the yearbook more creative and interesting.

One of the high points of the year for the editor was his attendance at the national Associated Collegiate Press Association convention in Chicago during October.

Word was received in the fall that the 1964 Fortress had followed its predecessor by scoring an "A" rating from the National School Yearbook Association.

INDEXING THE Fortress from the proof is hard work, as staff workers Jean Biere, Lorrie Funnemark and Susan Kell well know.

ALPHA PHI GAMMA . . . is named outstanding chapter of year

ALPHA PHI GAMMA—Marvin Ackerman, pres.; Linda Stull, sectreas.; Helene K. Stadtmueller, Mrs. Margaret Garland, advisor; Kathryn Becker, Jane Voigts.

Small, but busy. These two adjectives justly describe the Beta Delta chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma. Because of its many activities, Beta Delta was honored by being selected as the outstanding chapter of the year by judges at the national headquarters.

Activities of the group include publishing the college directory every fall as one of its main projects. In addition, it sponsors a Homecoming breakfast for APG alumni, sends a Christmas newsletter to APG alumni, holds an open house on high school visitation day and is responsible for the annual press banquet held each spring.

Purposes of the organization are to bring together students interested in journalism, to recognize ability and achievement in journalism and to serve and promote the college through journalism.

The fraternity's colors—black and white—symbolize the printed page. Its motto is "writing the truth in love."

TRUMPET . . . goes offset for better pictures

At the beginning of the year, the Trumpet switched to offset printing, marking a change from the previous hot metal process. This change especially improved reproduction of pictures.

Early Saturday mornings, while most students were catching a few extra hours of sleep, drowsy members of the Trumpet staff were putting the final touches on the paper at the Waverly Independent and Democrat office.

Work started on Sunday evenings, when Editor Linda Stull posted assignments on the door of the Trumpet office. It continued as Tuesday mornings the editorial board, consisting of the editor, Managing Editor Jane Voigts, Business Manager Bob Holdorf and Mrs. Margaret Garland, advisor, discussed the financial, editorial and technical details of the publication.

Wednesday and Thursday evenings were reserved for copyreading, headline writing and any goofing off that staff members could find time for. On Friday evenings a courageous few postponed their social activities until after proofreading and layout sessions were completed.

Advertising Manager Deanna Fulwider made weekly pilgrimages to Waverly merchants to help finance the Trumpet's blasts, whereas circulation experts Dave Wegenast, Roger Anderson and Jon Becker made sure the publication was delivered to students and subscribers in nearly every state in the Union, plus some foreign countries.

COPYREADING FOR "The Wartburg Trumpet" is a weekly chore for Managing Editor Jane Voigts and Feature Editor Katie Maahs.

CASTLE . . . wins All-American award for 1964 publication

"Castle," Wartburg's student literary magazine, worked this year to retain the quality and student acceptance of last year's All-American rated production. With a larger proportion of entries coming from upperclassmen, the "Castle" gained in maturity of viewpoint and in variety. A student-written play, seen in convocation production, was published. The amount and quality of prose contributions were greater than before.

Entries were judged by the alumni director, the Rev. Robert Gremmels; his wife, Mrs. Marion Gremmels; and Mrs. James Rathe, resident of Waverly. Prose and poetry divisions were designated, with winners receiving cash awards. The "Castle" is distributed in the spring, at which time contest winners and contributors receiving honorable mention are announced.

The art editor and her staff added life and dimension to the magazine. The cover was done in several tones of one color to allow funds for the printing of more copies.

Wartburg students interested in the business world found the Business Students Association useful and enjoyable in 1964-'65. The association presented a wide variety of monthly programs designed to inform its members about general and individual aspects of the business world.

Some examples of these programs include a discussion about the fields of the certified public accountant and the certified professional secretary and a talk on the role of the Chamber of Commerce in business.

Two field trips were taken. In December thirty members traveled to Minneapolis for a tour of the Federal Reserve Bank there. Later, several senior and junior members attended the annual American Marketing Association Convention in Chicago. The convention presented opportunities to obtain interviews and possible job placements with leading concerns throughout the United States.

Climaxing the year were the annual BSA Banquet, installation of officers and presentation of awards.

BARTELS HOME resident Bill Hagenbuch shows Edee Dodd and Leanne Latterell some of the handiwork he has made on his loom.

Activities of the Passavant Club are divided into club programs and field experiences. This year, for example, each monthly meeting had a special feature. Speakers from such agencies as Lutheran Social Service and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were included.

Visits and a tour of the Lutheran Children's Home, a Christmas party with caroling, visits to the Convalescent Home and a Valentine's party at the Children's Home provided field experience.

A picnic in the spring concluded the year's activities.

Open to all students, the club is interested in the "helping professions" and is concerned with various areas of social work and service to other people.

Passavant Club is named for the Rev. William A. Passavant, a pioneer in the deaconess movement of the Lutheran Church in America.

offers women growth and maturity in the social graces

Pi Sigma—these words mean "one in body and one in spirit." Aiming at the achievement of this phrase is the underlying goal of Pi Sigma. Its central purpose is to give opportunities to grow and mature in the social graces. All Wartburg women are eligible for membership.

Fulfillment of these goals is carried out basically in two ways. At each monthly meeting a particular topic or speaker is featured. This year, for example, a fashion consultant and a beauty expert visited the group.

Traditional activities, reinterpreted each year, also help fulfill these goals. These include the fall Get-Acquainted Tea, planned especially to welcome the new Wartburg women; the Christmas Turn-About Ball, an elegant occasion; and a spring style show, to display the styles for the coming season.

This year a production room was added to the radio facilities of KWAR-FM. New equipment includes consoles, tape recorders and turntables.

Educational broadcasting has also been increased this year. The staff seeks to improve the quality of broadcasting in all areas.

To be "first, fast and accurate" with its news and programming is the goal of KWAR-FM. The staff of thirty-two students and two advisors operate this "voice of Wartburg College" found at 89.1 megacycles on the FM dial.

KWAR-FM serves a three-fold purpose. First of all, the staff broadcasts educational material and music to the college student and lowa residents within a 90-mile radius. The radio station serves, secondly, as an arm of public relations. It acquaints the public with the cultural and educational opportunities of Wartburg College. Thirdly, the radio staff is offered ample opportunity for practical experience in the technical, programming and management aspects of an educational FM radio station.

CONTROLLING THE tip, Bob Bunting, powerful ball player for Ketha, helps his team walk away with its second basketball championship.

More than ever before representing a cross-section of the student body is Ketha House. The members of the twoyear-old organization actively promote Wartburg spirit and tradition. Its residents excel in IM's, debate, athletics, student government and academic circles.

Intramurals champions for two consecutive years, the "Lamplighters" continued to enjoy powerful teams and winning ways through this year's IM season. Ketha House kept up its one-year winning streak in all IM games but football. Here its two-and-one-half-year victory string crashed to an end with a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Offcampus.

"Little Caesar and the Conspirators," a Saturday evening dance in the Student Union, was a major fall social event sponsored by the "Lamplighters." Nearly six hundred students attended. House members also designed a sculpture for Snow Weekend.

VOLLMER HOUSE . . . boasts leaders in student government

CHECKING ROAD maps for the best route to take while in Europe are Rog Sherman, Arlyn Ristau, Dale Fridley and Joe Niemann.

Traditionally leaders in all phases of Wartburg life, Vollmer House again this year played an integral part in campus life. Its seventeen members, representing a broad cross-section of college life, again supported all campus activities either as sponsors or as participants.

Many high lights in this year make it stand out in the annals of Vollmer House history. Socially, activities included Outfly and Homecoming parties.

Social activities were but a part of the Vollmer life. Intramurals, student government and athletics were also actively promoted by the men of Chi Nu. Leaders in student government and other campus organizations lived at Vollmer.

The men that graduate from Wartburg do not graduate from Vollmer. They all share the same fellowship achieved from growing and learning together while living in Vollmer—a fellowship which the members believe is unmatched by any other house.

MEN OF ALPHA . . . find living in "The Parsonage" worthwhile

POP CORN, soft drinks and a guitar—these elements set the stage as the Men of Alpha begin crowding into the T.V. room for some evening fun.

Men of Alpha have been a recognized, official campus organization since May of 1963. Since that time, they have sponsored their share of campus activities.

"The Parsonage" is the campus nickname for Alpha House, and Alpha with its lack of paint and shabby roof bears mute testimony to the fact that it is the oldest offcampus housing unit.

A large red "A" which hangs from the porch gable, small rooms, sagging floors and a furnace and hot water heater which make vain attempts are the distinguishing characteristics of the house.

Yet the fourteen occupants live in an environment of bull sessions, house parties, intramurals and study. Guitar music and ping-pong games are commonplace, and practical jokes bring challenges to daily life. The Men of Alpha seem to scatter each day as they pursue a wide range of majors, curriculums and extracurricular activities, but although they contribute their best to many areas of campus life, there is always time and energy left to devote to comradeship and good times that will always be a part of life at Alpha and Wartburg College.

In its third year of existence as a men's residence for twelve Wartburg men, Gamma House is continually increasing its prestige. This year it houses the student body president, three student senators and several varsity athletes.

Life at Gamma House is characterized by involvement, enjoyment and study. Intramural athletics, popcorn parties and their own hootenannies highlight the activities of the Gamma men.

Although young, Gamma is constantly building a tradition. This year the men adopted an emblem and purchased sweatshirts. A history of Gamma House is also maintained by the house historian. Gamma has the right to choose its own members and seeks those men who will maintain the traditions of Gamma and Wartburg.

Cotta House existed for the first time this year as a recognized organization. This recognition enables Cotta to take a more active part in campus activities. Cotta's fifteen men represent a cross-section of the men on campus.

Sports are an important part of Cotta's existence, although watching television rates a close second. High lights of the year were the Christmas party, the fall house cleaning and the traditional spring house party..

Cotta has seen many improvements this year, including interior decorating by the campus crew, wall-to-wall carpeting, a new television and all new furniture. Improvements in the basement also offered several new types of recreation.

Cotta House will lose many graduating seniors this year, who will long remember its fun-loving atmosphere and the close friendship of its members.

Important links between the individual student and the student body as a whole are governing councils. Students set up standards for themselves and fellow students through these councils. Problems arising in the enforcement of these standards are the responsibility of the councils.

Men's Co-ordinating Board communicates between male students and the student body. Membership on the board is comprised of representatives from each of the male dorm councils, off-campus houses and male commuters.

Looking after the general needs of all women students is the Women's Judicial Council, made up of representatives from each of the women's dorm councils. The executive board edits the "Knightly Code of Living," establishing procedures concerning campus life for women. Penny Nights are sponsored to raise money for a project.

Student Union Council tries to keep the facilities of the Union in proper order and suggests rules to be followed by students while in the Union. Chosen for a two-year term, the members are elected by a popular vote of the student body.

STUDENT SENATE . . .

INTERESTED STUDENTS check the wares of Senate during Senate Night, which this group sponsored for new students during the first week of school.

CHECKING THE Student Senate bulletin board for club minutes and notes of interest are Kathe Lewellan and Kathy Kriesel.

Student problems and opinions color the Wartburg campus with varying shades of intensity. The focal point, the outlet for many important campus issues, is the Student Senate.

Provided with new office and meeting facilities in the Student Union, the twenty members represent a cross-section of the student body. The senate membership includes four student body officers, four class presidents and three senators from each class.

Many interesting resolutions, ranging from music to finances, were passed this year by the Senate. A baby grand piano was purchased for Buhr Lounge and dances were held there under the auspices of the Social Activities Committee.

Student body meetings, usually sparsely attended, were required, and class dues are now a part of the student's activity ticket. The class dues issue was approved by a vote of the student body. Student body officers, the president and the secretary, will receive remuneration next year as a result of one of the group's decisions.

One of the thorniest issues was the question of student evaluation of faculty, which was the concern of the Academic Life Committee.

MEMBERS OF the Wartburg Community Symphony assemble on stage to honor their conductor, Mr. John Bentley, who served during the absence of Mr. Robert Lee, and their guest soloist, cellist Leslie Parnas, who appeared with the group February 14.

COMMUNITY SYMPHONY... expands to enrich cultural scope

Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra is a musical organization sponsored jointly by the college and the Waverly Community. Members of the orchestra are drawn from Wartburg College students and faculty and from community residents who enjoy playing music as a hobby.

This year, under the direction of John E. Bentley, the orchestra presented four concerts, each of which featured guest soloists. Flutist Judith Bentley was heard as soloist in a Vivaldi, ''Piccolo Concerto''; mezzo-soprano Mrs. Marion Schroeder sang Brahms' ''Alto Rhapsody''; and the internationally famous cellist Leslie Parnas was featured in Haydn's ''Cello Concerto.''

Local youth soloists were spotlighted in the final concert, which is traditionally dedicated to the youth of the community.

Wartburg Community Symphony continually strives to expand its program further to enrich the cultural scope of the college and the community.

CASTLE SINGERS . . . presents musicals, hootenannies, spirituals

Black blazers, the concert dress of the Castle Singers, are a symbol of musical diversity on the Wartburg campus. All shades of the tonal spectrum—traditional to modern, religious to secular—are included in the group's repertoire.

The group adds life to campus activities and represents Wartburg outside the Waverly area. Activities for 1964-'65 included appearances at the Inauguration of President Bachman, the annual Christmas at Wartburg (done with the cooperation of the choir, band and art departments) and a Christmas radio concert at the Waterloo TV station.

Snow weekend gave the group an opportunity to be folk singers and present a program of folk ballads from all parts of the world.

The bright sounds of "Oklahoma," a Broadway musical written by Rodgers and Hammerstein, finished the season. Presented in cooperation with the Drama Department, the musical added lyrical color to the Wartburg musical spectrum.

What is the formula for a quality, college concert band? Hard-working students plus dedicated leadership equal instrumental enjoyment for all involved.

The Wartburg College Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. John Bentley, added the needed musical touch to many traditional campus activities in 1964-'65. These activities included the Homecoming Concert, Christmas at Wartburg, a spring concert on Luther Hall Mall and graduation.

Lasting two weeks, the spring tour is the high point for the concert band. This year the band toured Minnesota and the Dakotas. Minneapolis, Minnesota, was one of the special stops during the tour. The annual tour requires much preparation and devotion on the part of each band member so that the band, as a whole, may display its musical talent.

GOING THROUGH one of their daily practice sessions, the band, directed by Mr. Bentley, prepares for Christmas at Wartburg.

WARTBURG CHOIR . . . plans summer tour of six countries

UNDER DIRECTION of Dr. Edwin Liemohn, choir members rehearse one of the many numbers which they will present during their summer tour.

WARMING UP before their daily choir practice are Carol Schulte, Bob Hummel, Karon Kurschinski and Kathleen Hyda.

Singing in Missouri, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Iowa during their two-week fall tour, the Wartburg Choir, accompanied by Dr. Edwin Liemohn, director, and Mrs. Liemohn, provided concerts of religious music to communities, under the sponsorship of their local Lutheran churches.

Tour repertoire consisted of selections from J. S. Bach, J. C. Bach, Grieg, Schumann and others. Soloist Iris Koehler was featured in the concert. The fifty-three-member, a cappella choir presented seventeen concerts during those weeks.

Wartburg Choir gave the campus a musical setting by presenting concerts, providing music for church services, convocations and Christmas at Wartburg, and by participating in choral and instrumental clinics.

In the summer of 1965 the choir will tour six European countries, including Germany, the Netherlands, France, Switzerland and Austria, for a period of five weeks, with an additional proposed appearance at the New York World's Fair.

CHI RHO . . . fosters Christian attitudes in modern life

CANDLES CAST a glow in the darkened Chapel-auditorium for the Chi Rho Candlelight Service during Christmas time at Wartburg.

"Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you; and lo I am with you always, to the end of the age."—Matt. 28: 19-20

Having responded to this command, men have united themselves in Chi Rho. Through Chi Rho they seek to foster the proper Christian attitudes, to increase the appreciation of the values in a liberal arts education and to discuss possible solutions to the perplexing problems facing the twentieth century.

These aims were partially met in 1964-1965 by a variety of activities. Panel discussions and guest speakers were featured at the monthly meetings. Visitations to Bartels Home for the Aged provided a practical training field.

Christian atmosphere was enhanced by the traditional Chi Rho Candlelight Service in December. The annual banquet ended the school year.

The Four R's organization provides an opportunity for future Christian Day School teachers to gain individual and professional experience. The club encourages those who have felt this call to Christian service in education.

Under the leadership of Dr. Ernest Yunghans, the group planned many interesting and varied programs. One of the most stimulating was a talk by Miss Laura Kruse, principal of St. Paul's Day School. The film entitled "Children—handle with care" was also shown at one of the meetings.

MISSION FELLOWSHIP . . . unites all

"Brother or Bother?"—This question was the theme of Mission Emphasis Week 1964.

To members of Mission Fellowship it was a question of importance the entire year. The letter "r" in the theme represents the difference between understanding and prejudice.

Activities centered around such things as films concerned with the significance and accomplishments of world missions, and speakers who have worked in the mission field sharing their experiences with the group.

In working together for their common interest—the understanding and growth of mission work here and abroad—the members gained much in the knowledge and appreciation of the mission task of the church.

LSA . . . develops spiritual maturity through discussions

Spiritual growth and fellowship—these are important elements in a college student's life. The Lutheran Student Association strives to add these elements to the Wartburg campus. LSA is a national organization with members on college and university campuses throughout the United States. The Rev. Neil Eckstein is the campus sponsor for the organization.

"Are Americans Really Ugly?" was the topic of a panel discussion for one of this year's programs, which included a group of Wartburg foreign students' giving their attitudes toward life in the United States.

"Politics and Christianity" was the topic of a discussion at which Dr. Karl Schmidt was the featured speaker. Discussions of the play "Luther" and the comic strip "Peanuts" were carried on later in the year.

The LSA also distributed the magazine "Frontiers," national LSA publication, which discusses the religious anxieties of modern man in poetry and in prose.

PREPARING TO discuss the comic strip "Peanuts" are Merdys Anderson, Kathy Kriesel, Bob Meeker, Al Goldammer and Donna Meyer.

STUDENT CONGREGATION . . . serves need for student worship

In the life of a Wartburg student worship plays an important role. Serving this aspect of college life is the job of the Student Congregation, served by Pastor Herman Diers.

Supervised, attended and founded by the students, the congregation sponsors evening chapel services, Sunday morning study groups and group devotions in the living quarters. Holy Communion is held regularly, and attendance cards are sent to home congregations.

Membership is open not only to Lutheran students, but also to members of other denominations in the form of affiliates. This membership is concurrent with that of the home congregation.

Student Congregation attempts to give the students a sense of divine vocation about their lives at college and to foster in them a sense of responsibility in the church at large.

MID-WEEK LENTEN services are conducted in the Chapel-auditorium by Pastor Gies and Dr. Harms at an evening worship service.

LITURGIST CONNIE Meyer assists at an evening chapel—one of the ways students can serve the church. Chaplain Diers looks on.

CONGREGATION CHOIR, conducted by Carolyn Wulff, rehearses a number to be sung at the Sunday morning worship service.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS . . . define national political issues

With the largest membership the group has ever had, the Wartburg College chapter of Young Democrats endeavored to show others the vital role that government plays in each person's life.

Since this was an election year, both on the state and national levels, the organization was especially active campaigning to help its party come out on top.

A variety of meetings was planned and held, including having the state officers on the campus. Other activities included co-sponsoring the mock election with the Young Republicans. The group also had a membership drive, which began with the display at Senate Night, held early in the fall. As in previous years, the members also sold subscriptions to the "Democrat," a nationwide newspaper, in order to raise money for the organization.

Highlighting the year was the selection of Dale Max, member of the Wartburg chapter, to attend a national political workshop held in Washington, D.C., this spring.

DISTRIBUTING POLITICAL literature at the Young Democrats' booth during Senate Night are Randy Marsh and Jim Folkerts.

Promoting political interest and informing students about the Republican Party are the aims of the campus Young Republicans.

Active interest was taken in the 1964 presidential campaign. Several members went to see Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, at a rally in Mason City.

The club was a sponsor of Political Emphasis Month in October, during which time Frank Koykar, state chairman from Loras College, debated civil rights in convocation. Three newsletters, called "Young Republican Ramblings," were printed and distributed during the year.

Climaxing Political Emphasis Month was the mock election with Republican candidates winning out in the races for president and congressman.

Meetings, workshops, conferences and conventions have been attended by members throughout the year, and speakers prominent in college, county and state politics have been guest speakers at several meetings.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS . . . advances French culture

French culture is no longer foreign to Wartburg. Le Cercle Francais, or French Club, was officially "born" in 1964. The purpose of the group is to promote fellowship among the French students at Wartburg for the advancement of the French language and culture.

During the year interesting films were presented on the French way of life and famous places in France visited by tourists. French art was also featured.

For Homecoming Le Cercle Français and Hans Sachs

jointly sponsored a campus decoration paralleling the Homecoming theme, "Unity Amid Diversity." The result was a third-place award. Yuletide caroling gave the members an opportunity to become acquainted with French Christmas carols.

Le Cercle Francais is advised by Dr. Virgil Warren. Any student interested in this active, new club may become a member by attending the meetings.

PI KAPPA DELTA . . . is newly formed campus group

Most recently organized of the campus clubs is Pi Kappa Delta, national forensics honor society. Installation of the members of the Wartburg chapter was held March 6 at a banquet in the Castle Room of the Student Union.

To qualify, a student must maintain high scholastic standing and have participated in not less than twelve recognized debates with other accredited colleges and universities. He must also have earned a rating of "Excellent" in seventy per cent of those debates.

Seven students were granted membership in the society, marking the first time since 1936 that an lowa college has been honored with membership in this organization.

HANS SACHS VEREIN . . . learns German pastimes, patterns

DISCUSSING THEIR summer in Europe as a possible program for the group are senior Darlene Wesenberg and sophomore David Foege.

"Gute Nacht," "Vater Unser, der du bist im Himmel"—these and many other phrases from the German tongue can be heard at the monthly meetings of the Hans Sachs Verein. The pastimes and patterns which make up the German culture are promoted by this group.

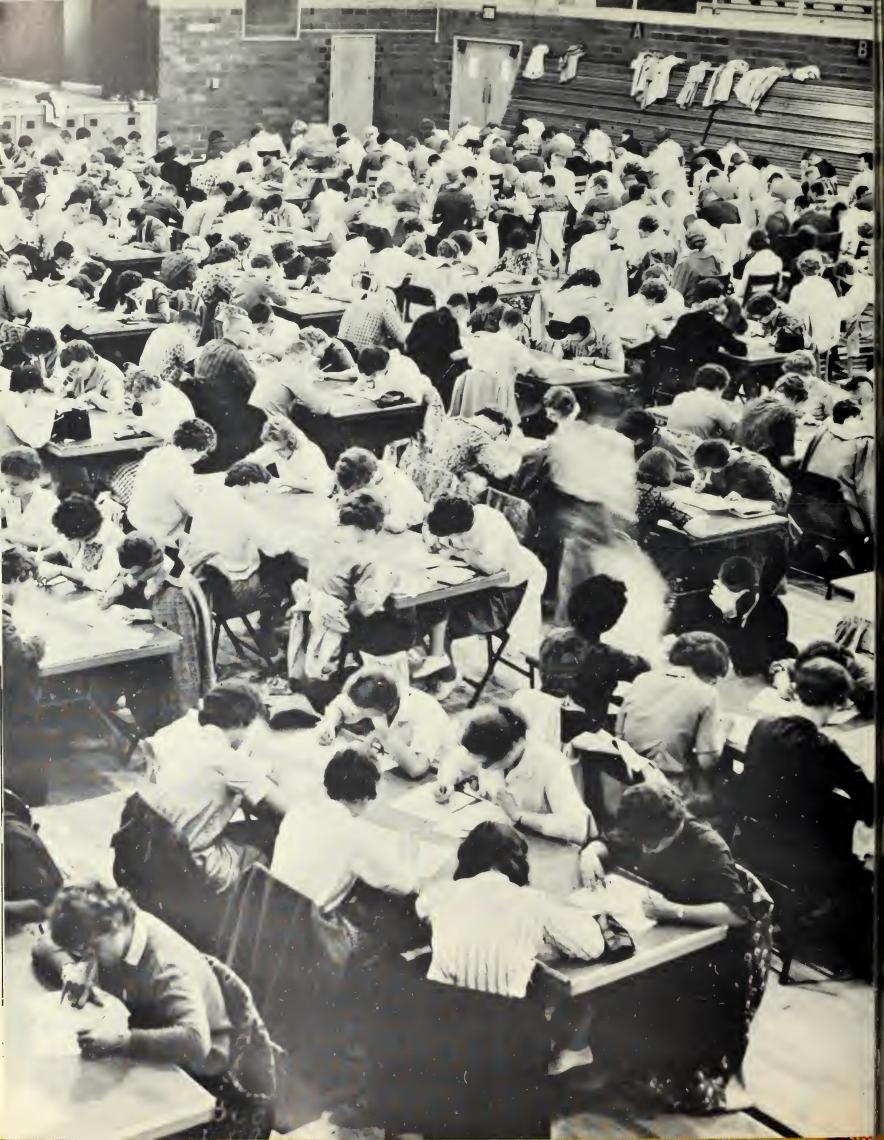

Various activities were sponsored by the club this year. At the regular meetings movies, panel discussions and general group discussions were held. Sociability and singing added to the meetings.

Special activities were also sponsored by the group. A Christmas caroling party provided an opportunity for the entire student body to sing, in English or in German.

"Mein Kampf," a full-length feature movie recently released, was shown to the public in the spring. The dialogue of the movie was in German, with English subheads. The traditional cider and crackers booth was part of the fall carnival.

Held on the banks of the Cedar River, the May Breakfast concluded the year's activities. Students hiked out to the "old Outfly grounds," enjoyed a hearty breakfast and participated in a German worship service.

In Memory of

Ralph Height

1935 - 1965

The life of a gifted man was taken April 7, 1965, in an auto accident, near Waverly. That was the life of Wartburg student Ralph Height. A senior, majoring in church music, he expected to graduate in May. He will receive his degree posthumously at that time. From Mason City, he was head of the music department at St. James Lutheran Church in Mason City.

The crowd, constantly changing,

Moving in circles,

Unfixed.

Alone,

Ignoring society.

Wrapped up only in themselves.
